BASEBALL MAGNATES OF BOTH LEAGUES WIND UP THEIR SESSIONS TO-DAY

Highlanders Lose in Sunday Ball Fight, but Get Choicest Holiday Dates of Season—National's Schedule Ready.

TODAY will see the finish of the baseball sessions.

A sign of relief will greet the announcement of sine die.

What has been accomplished will go down in baseball history as "extraordinary proceedings."

To size up the situation in a few words it can be said that the American and National Leagues have come to an understanding, and that in the future these two august bodies will respect each other with all due courtesy.

Good Dates Soften Decision.

The American League had hoped to play ball at Ridgewood Park, Brooklyn, on Sundays, but the decision of Gerry Herrmann, who was the sole arbiter in the situation, was against them.

He thought permitting the Americans to play there would be doing an injustice to the Brooklyn Club.

To heal the wounded feelings of the American League people for depriving them of their Sunday games at home, the National League folks allotted them all the choice holiday dates in this city.

Opening Date for Highlanders.

Although it has been previously announced in these columns, it may well be repeated that the opening day—April 14—has been secured by the Americans. They play the champion Bostonians on this date.

On Decoration Day the Americans are also at home, meeting the Athletics and on Labor Day—another plum in the basket—Mr. Farrell's boys will cavort at Highland Park.

It has been a strenuous week for the magnates, but after all it looks as if the whole affair has been adjusted satisfactorily to both sides.

Glants to Open in Brooklyn.

The Glants will probably open the season on April 14 with the Brooklynans at the latter's grounds. Three days later they will open the season at the Polo Grounds. This is not definite, but the schedule as already arranged has been looked at.

At the National League meeting yesterday the constitution was revised and several important changes were made. One of the principal changes was in regard to the League membership.

Heretofore twelve clubs were allowed in the National League, providing that the organization could extend its territory, but in the future only eight clubs will compose the circuit, and clubs outside the cities at present represented in the National League can obtain membership without the unanimous vote of the National League.

Johnson Is Not Displeased.

The American League people were not a bit downcast over the decision of Mr.
